Idaho always said it was a real railroad. Idaho was home of the notorious Lazy Greenhorns. And with new buildings, and vista views, Idaho is ready to stand proud!

Looking at a sky full of rain, there was barely a hint of blue in the gloomy sky. The industrious city of Ely is dying for some color. When creative and technological musings are combined with a whole bunch of investors and a serious deficit, a self-financing project seems to be the only chance for improvement. But the implementation of this plan inevitably invites trouble.

The locomotive now stands idle in the Idaho main line. The clarifying season is already at an end. With it are the greater obstacles: the frozen rails and the snow covered rolling stock which drift through the wilderness at the source of the Snake River.

The startup of a new railroad had never looked so tempting to the intendants of the Alpine Valley. The main shunting line runs between Burlington and St. Joe, where the second load of engines is collected.

==>Today I would like to show you an amazing and beautiful train chugging out of Moscow station. It is Great Arsenal Express and it has this glamorous name. I feel like I have the best job

Needless to say I created a character like this. I'll let the image speak for itself: Story: You are a male hero who travels the world to save the planet from evil monsters. You always think that you are also a brave and great hero... Until one day you find your future wife and your life is turned into a hellish hell. I'm posting it here for you guys, the community. Hopefully, it'll serve to help create a strong, powerful, and beautiful heroine character for your game. This is the result of having two days to make this character, I think... :D And because this scene was so difficult to make, I will try and give a little bit of help for you guys! Thx for the read! -Gee-kun-soft I'm making my first RPG Maker MV template to help other people who are struggling with creating female characters! I'm also making a VNML template for people who have games in Visual Novel Maker. I'm hoping I can help create a strong, beautiful, and powerful heroine character for your game. A shadow of the hero, if you will. Here are the differences I've made for my VNML template: - Red eyes are now purple (using "Sharp Eyes" eye color effect) - Shinrines are now both more pronounced and have different hair color effects - Hair is slanted towards the back, the same way as in the game - The collar is now fully gone and the choker is tied around the neck

What's new in Silent Night:

to the director and Luis San Francisco; "Lucius" is dedicated to all the teachers whose passion created great personalities such as music composers and musicians like Sergio Santeramo, Maestro Luciano Altimani, Francesco Berta, Salvatore Mazzeo, Daniela Brahm-Reichle, Massimo Sforza, Chris Bächinger, Daniele Cominu, Doc Föckan and many others. "Lucius" wants to be part of a big family: that of the treasure of the common Italian language. "Lucius" is dedicated to the Italian people without which the great spirit of the composer could not be displayed. My earliest memories of film dates from the 1940s. Actually, I remember almost nothing and I was buried in my classical music before my adolescence. Nevertheless, thanks to my passion for this art, I took up studying film when I was 13 and watched many films as a young teenager: Humphrey Bogart in "Casablanca", World War II cinema, the Spanish, German and Hungarian and Italian cinema. Among these highlights, there was a film that made me aware of a prestigious Italian talent at that time: Bruno Corbucci's

"The Big Gundown", which I saw at Rome's "United" multiplex in 1972. A few months later, I noticed the advertisement in the newspapers that announced the release of a work called "Lucius", directed by Luigi Comencini, the great Comenie.
